Excerpt: . . . 11 testimony here on the Hill in the prior weeks, and he has addressed the issue of transforming our force structure; he has addressed the issue of transforming the way we do business to meet the new security challenges in the 21st Century. He also has made it clear that in order to achieve the transformation of both force structure and business operations in the Pentagon and the Department of Defense, we also have to pay attention to transforming our infrastructure. Now, similarly to the Department writ large, transforming the infrastructure is not an easy task. It is a very large portfolio, 620, 000 facilities valued at over 600 billion, 46, 000 square miles of real estate, in excess of the size of the State of Pennsylvania, I might add. We have managed in that enormous real estate, over - we do manage over 300 threatened and endangered species, many, many important cultural resources, including 68 registered national historic landmarks and over 14, 000 properties currently listed on, or eligible for, the National Register of Historic Places. Now, since Secretary Rumsfeld returned to the Pentagon after 25 years, he and I and others have adopted a different view of how we manage our portfolio, our installation and environment portfolio. It is, after all, more than just military construction, albeit - I know we are testifying in front of the Military Construction Sub-committee. I think...
