XVI. --A Letter to EICHARD CLARKE, Esq. , Honorary Secretary to the Royal Asiatic Society, on the subject of a Turkish Tombstone found in a Garden adjoining the Middle Temple. Head June 5th, 1852. My Dear Sib, Some days since one of my friends told me that he had seen a stone, inscribed with Arabic characters, standing half-buried in a little garden immediately adjoining that of the Middle Temple. I at once hastened to the spot, thinking it might possibly be a trophy brought from the Holy Land by some one of the warriors whose cross-legged statues still decorate the ancient place of worship of the Templars. One glance, however, was sufficient to prove that my expectations were groundless; and the said stone turns out to be the monument of a pious Musulman, who died at the close of the last century. The following...
